Start your hike from S. Cassiano on trail No. 15, where the famous “Tru di lersc” (Larch Trail) begins. This educational trail on the edge of the Fanes-Senes-Braies Natural Park is dedicated to the larch forests and the alpine world of the Dolomites. Along the trail, you will enjoy breathtaking views of the Dolomites and admire the characteristic alpine fences, dry stone walls, and a restored, fully functional water mill. The trail passes by the Maso Larjëi and Maso Rùdeferia farms.

The hike is especially unique in autumn when the larch forests and meadows are bathed in golden, orange, and brown hues. Along the trail, you will find informative panels with significant details about the plants, fauna, and geology of the area.

From the Rùdeferia Farm, continue uphill through the forest on trail no. 15, leading you to the base of the Sas dla Crusc massif. The trail then continues along a relatively flat path to La Crusc, a truly magical place. For the descent, take trail no. 7, which will lead you directly to our hut, built with larch wood. The three indoor rooms have a pleasant wooden aroma, as they are lined with three local coniferous trees: Swiss Pine, Larch, and Fir.

Tip: If you prefer not to descend on foot, you can take the La Crusc 2 cable car, which starts 100 meters below the La Crusc Sanctuary and takes you directly to our hut.*

For those who don't want to return on foot, the La Crusc 1 cable car departs from behind our hut and reaches Badia in about 15 minutes. From there, you can walk to the main road and catch the bus to S. Cassiano, where you started your hike.

Note: You can shorten the hike by about 30 minutes by parking your car at the parking lot next to the Rùdeferia Farm.
